Tried to Sell Children Lt-Gov. Bulyea for Second Term Failed to Climb Mt. Robson

MOUNTAINEERS FAILED TO CONQUER OLD MOUNT ROBSON

HEAVY SNOW PREVENTED ATTEMPT — DISCOVERED TWO NEW PASSES INTO BRITISH COLUMBIA—I. N. COLLIE AND A. L. MUMM RETURN.

"No; we were not able to climb Mt. Robson, on account of the snow which was very deep in the mountains. Why, in August at the foot of the hills we had two days' snow which left six inches on the ground."

Such was the account of their trip to the Rockies that Messrs. N. Collie and A. L. Mumm, who arrived in the city last night, gave to a Capital reporter this morning.

Professor J. N. Collie, of the University of London, England, is also vice-president of the English Alpine Club and an author of some note. In company with Mr. Stuebel he wrote the "Exploration of the Canadian Rockies." Mr. A. L. Mumm is a London publisher.

On the fourteenth of July of this year these two intrepid mountain climbers accompanied by a guide which they had brought with them from Switzerland, started out westward to the Rockies with the intention of climbing Mt. Robson. They camped for a long time at the foot of the mountain, but the conditions would not permit of them making the attempt.

Leaving Edmonton they travelled up the Athabasca River, from there to Mt. Robson and from there to the Snooky River and then back south again, thereby completing a circle. In the country around the Snooky River they said they did not think that any white men had been before, perhaps an old prospector and of course the Indians, but it was practically an unknown country.

"We discovered two new passes," said Mr. Collie, "from the head waters of the Snooky River over the mountains to the Fraser River." In answer to a question he said that there would be no difficulty in getting up the west side of these passes, but he did not think that it would be very easy to get down into British Columbia.

During the time that they were in the mountains they climbed four peaks, but always they said the snow was in the way of their doing much in that line. Mr. Collie said that he now knows of seven passes in the mountains into B. C. and out of them all the Yellowhead was the only one that did not drop right down as soon as the summit was passed.

"Of course we had to get home," said Mr. Mumm, "so we struck out the way we had heard about over to the Snooky River and even then, early as it was, we had some difficulty in getting out owing to the snow."

"On the trail they met Donald Phillips, who went out with the Rev. Geo. McKenney, who climbed Mt. Robson, and had a long talk with him."

"I think from what they said that they were very lucky to get down alive," said Mr. Collie. "You see, Mt. Robson is the highest mountain of them all and stands out high above the others and consequently collects all the last weather that is going in the country."

The two explorers confirm the report that there is going to be a hard and early winter this year. The autumn is three or four weeks earlier than usual according to their reports, the poplar trees are already beginning to turn and winter looks very close.

Messrs. Collie and Mumm leave tonight for England. We are a week behind time, they say. Mr. Mumm.

"On the Snooky River we calculated that we would be in Quebec today and allowed ourselves a margin of a week more than was necessary to make the journey. Well, we used up all that margin and three days more at the same time."

THESE THIEVES LIKE WOOD PILES AND REFRIGERATORS

Recently there has been much petty thieving in the residential sections of the city, particularly in the district lying south of Jasper avenue and between Fifth and Tenth streets. It has been the habit with some of the light-fingered gentry to enter some one's yard where a refrigerator containing "my lord's viands," is located and making off with some of the delicacies, stockpiling up their own pantries with other people's goods. People have also been noticing their wood piles diminishing with greater rapidity than anticipated and it is thought that the same marauders have been carrying off some to provide for a possible cold winter.

On one occasion, an intruder was noticed carrying off an armful of wood from a certain yard, by a lady, who called to him, asking what he was doing. The man dropped the wood and fled.

Inquiries at the police station this morning elicited no information. It is stated, however, by some of the victims, that the matter has been reported to the police.

ANXIOUS AUSTRIAN HAUNTS OFFICIALS; SEEKS DAUGHTER

Wasyly Poppyk was in great trouble at the Immigration last morning. The usually expressionless face of the Slav took on a hunted look and his eyes uttered the mute appeal that his tongue could not tell in English. What could the matter?

When the interpreter, frantically summoned, arrived, it was found to amount to this: On June 18th last Wasyly paid through the Banque d'Hochelega at Pine River, Man., $67.20 to the C.P.R. for passage to be furnished his daughter Hanna from Tarnopol, Austria, to Pine River, Man. A long way you say, yet for the C.P.R. whose endless system of lines and agents girdles the world, and like the ring of the genie takes you from anywhere to anywhere. No it is quite an ordinary procedure and Wasyly was only doing what hundreds of his compatriots do every year.

But Hanna has not turned up. Wasyly waited at Pine River till a month ago expecting her arrival, then came on to Wolf Creek to keep his finances in a healthy condition. Re- turning in Edmonton today he was disappointed to learn that nothing was known of his daughter, and the look of anxiety on his face was pitiable. Not that Wasyly is altogether free from blame. He should not only have instructed his daughter of the plying of her passage but also have kept in touch with the Winnipeg Immigration authorities. Both of which he failed to do, for would not this charitable government of ours looked after his daughter as it had looked after him?

Well, Mr. Greaves is getting the immigration machinery in motion and the chances are the authorities will succeed in tracing the daughter up in a few days, and justify the father's confidence in our good, paternal government.

Looking radiantly happy, Mr. and Mrs. Chilcott left this morning's train for the coast. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Chilcott left the McDougall house and joined her husband. The happy couple then went to the Strathcona and registered at the Strathcona Hotel. They will make their home in Vancouver.

MACKENZIE BOWELL VISITS EDMONTON

Prominent Conservative in the Senate Tours West — Sees Many Great Changes

NOT TALKING POLITICS

But Says Nothing in Rumor That McBride Would Go to Ottawa Soon

The Rev. Hon. Sir MacKenzie Bowell, K.C.M.G., P.C., who is a former prime minister of Canada, and who today is one of the leaders on the Conservative side of the Senate, is a visitor in the city, and a guest at the King Edward Hotel.

Sir MacKenzie is merely making a tour of the west, "to see what it looks like since my last trip out here," as he said to a Capital reporter who interviewed him this morning. He has already been to the coast and Prince Rupert, and is now on his return journey to Belleville, Ontario, his home.

The former Prime Minister declined to discuss any of the political issues of the day. He was asked for an expression of opinion on the G. T. P., whether the expenditure was justified—and on the Naval Bill, but in each case he said that the questions were too big to discuss lightly.

"Do you place any credence in the rumor that Premier McBride of British Columbia is to go to Ottawa, to assume the leadership of the conservative party in the commons?" he was asked.

"There is no truth in it," was the reply. "Mr. McBride has denied it himself."

Sir MacKenzie said he was much pleased with the country he had passed through and said that he had noted wonderful progress since his last visit.

HARDLY A RADICAL TARIFF REDUCTION

So Thinks His Honor, Lt-Governor Gibson of Ontario, Who Is in Edmonton

FIRST TIME IN 18 YEARS

That Mr. Gibson Has Been Here — City Was Only Hudson Bay Outpost Then

The Hon. John Morrison Gibson, M. A., LL.D., K.C., Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, is in the city, on his first visit in eighteen years. His Honor is accompanied by Mrs. Gibson, and his military secretary, Capt. Long.

When interviewed, His Honor stated that his visit was not in any way official. He was merely on a pleasure tour.

"The same question which was put to Sir Louis Davies a few days ago was asked of Lieutenant-Governor Gibson. Was the action of Lieutenant-Governor Bulyea in calling upon Premier Sifton to form a government constitutional?" The answer was the same.

"Yes, I think Lieutenant-Governor Bulyea was within his rights," said His Honor. "Why, the same thing happened in Ontario. Sir Oliver Mowat was called from the bench to take the reins of government."

"What do you think of the tariff situation?" asked the reporter. "Do you think the agitation in some quarters

Lt-Governor Bulyea May Be Appointed for a Second Term

Dispatch From Ottawa States General Feeling Is That He Will Be Retained In Office—Has Proven An Ideal Governor

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 23.—Although no decision has yet been reached by the government as to the successor to the position of Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, the general opinion is that Hon. G. V. Bulyea, the present incumbent of the office, will be reappointed for another five years.

Governor Bulyea has won much popularity by the manner in which he has performed his duties, and it is believed that the precedent set by the reappointment of Hon. A. E. Forges as last Governor of Saskatchewan five years ago, can be safely followed in this case.

As to the Lieutenant-Governorship of Saskatchewan, nothing has been decided. There are many aspirants, but the belief here is that a Saskatchewan man will succeed Mr. Forges.

LORD NORTHCLIFFE GOES

Says He Will Confine His Pulp Mills to Newfoundland

St. John, N. B., Sept. 23.—Lord Northcliffe, accompanied by Lady Northcliffe and party passed through last night en route to New York. He said he was not thinking of negotiating for any pulp mills in New Brunswick but would confine his operations on this side of the Atlantic to Newfoundland.

IS C.N.R. TRYING TO KILL HIS BUSINESS

B. C. Cameron of Rat Portage Made Some Startling Charges at Winnipeg

BEFORE RY. COMMISSION

Judge Mabey Expresses Antagonism at Discrimination of Freight Rates

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 23.—The feature of the railway commission's sitting today, was the outspoken charge made by B. C. Cameron, president of the Rat Portage Lumber Co., that Wm. MacKenzie and D. D. Mann were engaged in deliberate attempt to put this company and himself out of business by their manipulations of traffic on the Canadian Northern Railway.

He said that he could easily double the plant here, but he is dependent upon the Canadian Northern for the supply of cars to carry his logs. The plant is unable to run more than 125 days in the year now, owing to the cold blooded refusal, he says, of the Canadian Northern to furnish him with sufficient cars.

He has complained many times to both MacKenzie and Mann. The former had tried to put him off with promises which were given to cloak his real design while the latter had bluntly informed him that he could not have better service from the Canadian Northern than he had had during the past six years. He appealed strongly to the Railway Commission for relief and said if it were not given he would be forced out of business.

A statement came out during the course of discussion on the application of the Rat Portage Lumber Company for lower rates on the C. N. R. between western Ontario points and Winnipeg. Intermediate rates, it seems, are higher than through rates from Rainy River, and Judge Mabey expressed himself as antagonistic to such discrimination. The application, will be dealt with further at the Winnipeg sitting.

WILL ABOLISH RED LIGHT DISTRICT

Commissioners Give Order to Chief Lancy to Exterminate Undesirables in North End

ASK MOUNTED POLICE

For Aid As Colony Is Outside of City Limits—Fairview and Norwood Complain

At last a move has been started to wipe out the red light district just north of the city.

The following is the full text of the order issued to the chief of police this morning by the city commissioners:

"Referring to your letter of the 18th inst., calling our attention to the trouble arising from the existence of a colony of sporting houses just north of the city, we beg to state that conditions such as reported by you cannot be tolerated and should be suppressed without delay. Please take the matter up with the R.N.W.M.P. authorities in accordance with your suggestion, and take all other necessary action in the matter and report progress."

The order was issued as a result of a complaint made by Chief of Police Lancy, to the effect that the existence of the red light district was a source of great inconvenience and danger to the residents of Fairview and Norwood. The citizens of that part of the city stated to the chief that they were frequently bothered at night by strange men, the majority of them intoxicated.

The road to the red light district runs through Norwood and Fairview, and the residents along the route are continually being disturbed by the profligate, shouting, singing, and general courting of intoxicated men, driving past. Besides a great many frequenters use the street cars to Alberta avenue, and they are mostly intoxicated.

Under the circumstances the chief feels it his duty to recommend that some action be taken towards having the houses of ill-fame removed. He suggests as an alternative that he be given authority to employ extra constables in order that the Norwood and Fairview districts might be more effectively patrolled. However, he does not favor the latter, but advocates the complete abolition of the red light district as the only way out of the difficulty.

At the present time the police department and the citizens have to put up with all the disorderly aggregation without having the advantage of controlling the district, and Chief Lancy feels that if representations were made to the mounted police to the effect that the city was opposed to the existence of the colony, that steps would be taken to close the houses.

TRIED TO AUCTION HIS OWN CHILDREN

Pastor of Pittsburg Church Put Boy and Girl on the Auction Block

HIS POVERTY WAS CAUSE

Crowd Nearly Mobbed Him and Congregation Refuses to Recognize Him

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 23.—There was near rioting at Circleville, Pa., last evening when the Rev. Thomas G. Board, pastor of the Wylie avenue Baptist church, Pittsburg, after advertising that he would sell two children to the highest bidder made an effort to auction the children off. The minister never got an opportunity to finish the sale as one thousand persons protested and he was nearly mobbed.

Matters were no better this morning when the Rev. Mr. Board appeared in his pulpit at Pittsburg. For he was subjected to many slurs from his congregation, many of whom would listen to no explanation.

Late yesterday the following circular was passed about Circleville which is the home village of the Rev. Mr. Board:

"Auction tonight. The undersigned will sell at public auction his two children, as hereinafter described. One boy, 7 years old, fair complexion, weighs forty-five pounds, strong body and mind. Never has been to school, but would make a competent newsboy and would be able to earn good wages in three years. Would be glad to support the buyer—least than eight years."

"One girl, aged 10 years, dark complexion, weighs fifty-three pounds. Has had four years' schooling. Was the youngest pupil in her class. Can execute any household duties, such as plain sewing and cooking, dish washing, etc. For a child's nurse cannot be excelled. Will be competent to keep an ordinary house in six years time."

"The sale will take place at the corner of Third and Main streets at 7.30. Terms and conditions of sale and reasons for selling will be made known before the sale begins. The purchaser must be a good moral person."

At the appointed time the minister appeared with the two children and made the explanation that he had not been able to sell them. He wanted to sell two in order to keep the other three. Some persons in the crowd became abusive and Board finally announced the postponement of the auction.

Late in the evening, when a Prohibition candidate for the state legislature, declared that it had been but a joke on his part, that he had intended to illustrate a certain point with the children as examples but the crowd took him seriously.

SIR JAMES TALKS AGAIN IN LONDON

Thinks Imperial Union Has Been Prejudiced by Canada's Commercial Treaties

(Canadian Associated Press.) London, Sept. 23.—A weekly newspaper here published last Sunday an article referring to conditions prevailing in the stevedore section of some Atlantic steamer. It is understood that the steamship companies concerned will take legal proceedings against the newspaper.

Sir James Whitney, premier of Ontario, interviewed by the Standard of Empire, expressed the opinion that imperial union has been seriously prejudiced by the conclusion of commercial treaties by Canada with foreign countries, prior to the conclusion of an understanding with the mother country on trade affairs. Sir James strongly deprecates the idea of reciprocity arrangements between Canada and the United States.

PROFITS IN MILK

James P. Grier, secretary of the Chicago Milk Producers' association, declares that the producers believe 8 cents per quart is enough for the consumer to pay for milk, but they think a larger percentage of this is due the man who owns the cows. "Last winter the producer got 35 cents per quart for his milk, but during the six summer months the average price was but 25 cents," says Grier. "Yet during the entire twelve months the consumer paid 8 cents per quart, and the difference went into the pockets of the distributors. We were prepared to make a fight for 4 1/2 cents this time, but I suppose that we will accept the price of 3 1/2 cents as a compromise." If the Chicago district milk producers think there is a fair profit for the milk, then how much of unnecessary profits are going into the pockets of Edmonton milk concerns at the present price of ten cents a quart. And it must also be remembered that there was a drought in Illinois and Chicago faced a milk famine. We rather imagine that most of the two cents per quart increase in price here, will be pure profit.

TO CONTROL CANADA?

Writing to the New York Evening Post a Buffalo correspondent expresses himself strongly upon the Atlantic fisheries award, and upon what he terms previous failures in Washington's management of national affairs. He must be very angry. Listen to what he says: "Behold the last great triumph of American policy! America loses the tremendously valuable Northeastern fisheries as a business proposition. America loses Newfoundland.
America loses Canada. The Mediterranean Brigade now have the opportunity to cheer themselves hoarse over their great victory."
Commenting on this the Toronto
News says:

In his heat the writer substitutes the word "America" for "United States." According to the latest advice received up to the time of going to press, the North Atlantic fisheries Newfoundland and Canada have not been lost to America. They have not been moved to Europe, Asia or Africa, but still remain attached to this continent.

The Buffalo writer proceeds to mourn in this wise:
Newfoundland, an independent community, is a triangular island commanding the mouth of the mighty St. Lawrence, the natural gateway into Canada. Not a vessel can get into Canada or out of Canada unless it passes close to Newfoundland, through the Strait of Belle Isle, or the Cabot Strait.
Newfoundland is a strategic point, the cork in the bottle, and, if you control the cork, you control the bottle.

There is a tide in the affairs of men, Which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune;

Omitted, all the voyage of their life
Is bound in shells and in miseries.
On such a full sea are we tossed,
And we must take the current when it seems

The Post's correspondent believes that, if years ago the United States Senate had not rejected Newfoundland's offer of reciprocity, the republic would by this time have controlled the island, "the cork" of the St. Lawrence and Canada itself. The Buffalo man did not intend that his letter should be broadcasted in this country, for does it not reveal the ulterior motives with which at least some people in the United States push their reciprocity negotiations with British North America?

What Others Say DON'T GET FAR

From the Winnipeg Telegram.
Notice that all the noblemen who stop in Winnipeg are described by the trustworthy reporter as being "very rich." The poor-ones never get beyond 'N' Yawk.

THEIR STYLE

From the Toronto Star.
It is amusing to hear the authority with which the tariff reformers across the Atlantic refer to Canada's views upon customs laws, whereas all they know about the Dominion is illustrated by the following startling statement from the London Daily Telegraph: "The Quebec Owen are raised in Ontario, and are the class corps at that town."

JUST AN ADVT.

From the Toronto Star.
Walt Mason has indignantly denied a widely-published story of his demise. He is shortly to issue his verse in book form. Is this the whole of his press agent's campaign or just the beginning of it?

MIGHT EXPECT IT

From the Chicago Tribune.
An assistant building commissioner in New York has resigned, giving as a reason the fact that the position is not necessary and that he can not find work enough to do to justify him in longer drawing his salary. The profound astonishment in municipal circles caused by this unprecedented act has been changed to keen alarm by the abolition of the position by the head of the administration.

Evidently a new era in public administration has set in when such things can be. The old idea that a city bureau was an aggregation of soft snobs, where job holders drew pay for doing nothing, has received a severe jolt in this incident, and such organizations as Tammany Hall may well feel that the good old days are passing rapidly away. It should be added that this extraordinary man is not insane and that the only commend he made upon his resignation was:
"I did only what any honest man would have done." This is what comes of putting honest men into office.

OVER-DOING "BACK TO NATURE"

From the London Advertiser.
Henry Thoreau, the New England poet-naturalist, was the first man in America to raise the cry, "Back to Nature." He lived in a hut in Concord, and for several years his expenses amounted to nine cents a day.
From his rude cabin, in the midst of a beautiful, he railed upon the artificiality of civilized life and the sordid-ness of those who lived to make money. He regarded himself as a superior being because he had turned his back upon the glamor of the world and had learned to live near to nature's heart. There are many fine passages of description in his works, especially in "Walden," his best production, but after all nobody loved him, for he was grouchy and freakish in disposition. His criticism of worldliness also fails in its effect, because he played a coward's part in leading the life of a hermit. The problems of this world are never going to be cleared up by those who desert their posts and go off by themselves to live apart and commune with nature. The best things of life, "joys in widest commonality spread," have been made possible by man's improvement upon nature. Nature is cruel and terrible; the so-called artificial life torments to man comfort, health and happiness.

IT IS TO LAUGH

For hours and hours the man, with his brows bent in stubborn determination, pores over the object before him.

Anon he half rises with a word of satisfaction and equally as anon he settles down again to his task with a "very rich." The poor-ones never get beyond 'N' Yawk.

"What is he working at?" we ask of one of the onlookers.
"He's trying to identify himself in a flashlight photograph of the crowd at a banquet," explains the individual of whom we seek information.
With a sympathetic smile, we pass along—Canada West Monthly.

The office boy sat in the corner, busily engaged in reading a book.
Strange to say, it was not "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," "Daisy Dean," the "Demon Detective," nor even a thrilling narrative of more or less correct life on the plains. He was reading Shakespeare.

An expression of peace and joy was on his face that ceased those who knew him to wonder if he had at last experienced a change of heart. His eyes sparkled and his whole expression was one of happiness. Finally he turned to a worker at another desk.

"Say, Jim," he said, "I've got a question for you. Did you ever read Shakespeare?"

"Yep."

"And d'yer know what he talks about?"

"Den maybe you can help me."

"What is it?"

"Well, I want to know which was the man, Romeo or Juliet."

THE SPACE GRABBER

The papers are full of the corkiest things.

And prints all the news in the case,
Stories shocking or sad,
Or silly or bad.

But Roosevelt gets the Space.

Dukes, counts, lords and kings come to visit our shores.

And persons most uncomely,
Though they speak appropos,
In good English, "you know"—
It's Roosevelt gets the Space.

Earthquakes happen and floods, confessions come, confessions go, Politicians are starting a race,
The birdmen are it

And are making a hit,
But—Roosevelt gets the Space.

There's many a ship 'twixt the cup and the lip.

And President Taft is an ace,
But, deny it we shall,
And explain it, we can't,
It's Roosevelt gets the Space.

EMPTY NESTS

Behold that nest; by summer's hand
'Twas swung.

Beneath a canopy of scalloped green,
Which Autumn hath removed; therein was seen

Four tiny, feeble forms of featherly young;

'Tis empty now; they sing far fields among.

Where cruel winds ne'er blow from frozen seas;

Nor deep-deeped Hunger sits 'neath leafless trees.

But where sweet scents to the warm winds are flung.

How like this one beneath the old roof-tree,

Where little voices piped as day was born,

And love helped them their early powers to essay;

They felt the world's strange lure and went away;

So in gray days now you can sometimes see

A lonely pair sit 'mid these haunts—forlorn!—A. L. Fraser in Can-

CLOSE FINISHES MARKED THE LABOR DAY MEET

Open Events Were Keenly Contested—Brown Spot Won Free for All Horse Race

The annual sports of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council, postponed from Labor Day, were held yesterday afternoon at the Exhibition Park, and proved an unqualified success. Though the weather was not any too promising, over 2,000 people journeyed to the grounds, and enjoyed a splendid afternoon's sport, enlivened by music supplied by the Citizens' and tourist bands.

There were events to suit the taste of everybody. Trotting races, pony races, field events, and track events while the boys and girls were also remembered.

The following were the officials in charge of the meet:

Horse races—Starter, Chas. May; Judges, J. Chamberlain, J. W. Morley and C. A. McKim.

Athletic events—Referee, Rev. Robt. Pearson; starter, Jno. Buchanan; timer, C. J. Griffith; judge, J. W. Ward; announcer, Jos. Clarke.

Field events—Judges, Chief Lancy, D. McFie, J. McPherson; scorer, Dr. Hollinsbee, Sergt. McCallum.

The free-for-all trot went to Brown Spot in straight heats, though Dr. Sloan made the finish close on both occasions. Annex, Jr., and Fireball finished third and fourth.

Bob Hill won the first heat of the 230 class, while the ultimate winner of the second and third heats was last. The money was divided as follows: First, Sadie Mack; second, Bob Hill; third, Teddy Roosevelt; fourth, Bonnie K.

The pony race was a cinch for Stimm's Midget, Dandy being second and Dick a poor third.

The Victoria Cross race, in which the entrants have to race on horseback, pick up a sack, supposed to represent a wounded soldier, and then gallop back to the starting point, while firecrackers give the impression of warfare, aroused much amusement. Broadfoot's Dandy proved the quickest under fire and won the race.

The open events were well-contested and as some of the best athletes in the city were entered, close finishes were the order of the day. Parney was right back in condition and won the 100 yards, and 220 yards dashes, though Buchanan gave him a brisk taste in both events.

Decoteau let Williams make the running in the half, and then came away and won as he pleased.

The mile race provided the most exciting finish of the meet. Alec Decoteau was placed on scratch, while runners were spread out at various handicaps. Dunham being the likeliest man with 140 yards. When the start was made it appeared that Alec would never catch the flying leaders, but he kept right to his work and gradually overtook the handicap men. Coming into the home stretch Dunham, Seward and Nicholson were leading by 25 yards when amid scenes of wild excitement the Albert champion crept up and up, and just had time enough to breast the tape, a winner. The time, 4:33, was in provincial record.

The walking race resulted in Wilds and Clark defeating Brockell, but the judges, after due consultation, decided, and rightly, too, that the two first walkers had not strictly adhered to heel and toe walking, and they were disqualified, Brockell getting the race. All the Alberta champions were on hand for the field events. Reidford won the 56 lb. shot and the 15 lb. hammer throw. Bagley, a new comer, won the discus, while John Cameron, as usual, took the 16 lb. shot put.

The tug-of-war was let off by the painters and the carpenters were on hand for the field events. Reidford won the 56 lb. shot and the 15 lb. hammer throw. Bagley, a new comer, won the discus, while John Cameron, as usual, took the 16 lb. shot put.

FINDS GRAVEL IN COBB'S EYE

Oculist Removes Piece of Bowler and Ty Declares He Can Now See As Well As Ever

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 23.—Ty Cobb called upon another oculist today, who removed a small piece of gravel from Cobb's right eye, and the Georgian declares he can see as well as ever. Some of the fans here are wondering how Dr. Gilman, who he first consulted, overlooked the piece of gravel, and are mean enough to say Cobb used the incident to make a play for his release. One authority has it that Ty has been offered $15,000 by Boston clubs, and would like to accept.

S.S. SPORTS WERE SUCCESSFUL

Youthful Athletes Enjoy Themselves at Diamond Park. The Prize Winners

"Say, he's a methodist, he can't race."

"Bet I kin beat ye turnin' a hand-spring."

"Say, mister, when are the races goin' to start?"

"Say, mister; when are the prizes to be given out?"

"Gwan, I got first."

"No 'ya didn't, I did."

For four hours yesterday, hilarious pandemonium reigned in Diamond Park. Not one quiet moment was experienced by the Capital reporter who visited the ground on the occasion when the stern disciples of Calvin disported themselves on the baseball diamond. Here was nothing of the Sunday school, still less of the staid Presbyterian, in the abandon with which the budding athletes took part in the games. From the football match at the start to the basketball game which brought proceedings to a conclusion everything was keenly contested and protested, and if you have ever taken part or organized a Sunday school picnic where you have to manage and manage by a lot of things and things, you will have an idea of the trouble that overworked officials had.

The occasion was the running off of the sports which should have been held at Fort Saskatchewan, when the Presbyterian Sunday school of Edmonton attempted to picnic there. Labor Day, and though the weather looked anything but promising at first the sun came out during the afternoon and with the mellow crispness of the fall afternoon made conditions perfect for the games. Practically everyone of the two hundred children took part and some creditable showing was made in the events of the large boys. The football games which opened proceedings were won by Northwood with a score 4-2 against Westminster. The girls' basketball team, captained by Miss Annie Gillespie, defeated that captained by Miss Edith Crayst by 2-1. The results of other events were as follows:

25 Yard race (boys 5 and under)—(a) J. John Carver; 2, Kenney; 3, Guy MacLaren. (b) 1, Gilbert Clark; 2, Alex. Young.

Boys (6 and under)—(a) 1, Kenneth Ferrier; 2, unidentified; 3, Guy MacLaren. (b) 1, Charley Wiggins; 2, John Carver; 3, Jim Kenney.

CUP TRUSTEE RESIGNS

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 23.—P. D. Ross, proprietor of the Ottawa Evening Journal, has resigned his position as trustee of the Minto Cup. He finds himself too busy to undertake the duties further.

RUGBY MATCH ON SATURDAY

Eskimos and Edmonton Y.M.C.A. Will Play at Diamond Park—Kick-Off at Five

The Eskimos have arranged a practice match for Saturday with the local Y.M.C.A. The two teams will meet at Diamond Park, at 5 o'clock, if the bucking bronchos have retired by then. Coach Belanger says he will be very glad if the wild horses of the prairie are still about when the rugbyists arrive, as he cherishes the opinion that some of his players can subdue the untamed beasts.

There will be a chance for every candidate for the Eskimo team to get in the game against the Y. The men will be changed at regular intervals throughout the game and the management committee desires to see every man out at five o'clock. The new uniforms should be in Edmonton in time to be used tomorrow.

Rev. Robt. Pearson is getting together the Y.M.C.A. and will probably have Percy Hardisty as his first lieutenant. Admission will be free and there should be a large turnout to get a line on the Edmonton representatives.

THE BUCKING CONTEND

The bucking bronchos will hold the boards at Diamond Park today and tomorrow, performances starting at 2:30 each day. The contest is being given under the auspices of three Medicine Hat ranchers, John Quail, A. P. Dwyer and W. H. Hobbs, who are presenting three celebrated riders, Harry Bray, Geo. Armstrong, Emil Legrande, Charlie Sears and Art Whitney. These cowboys are the real article and have all carried off laurels in former contests at Medicine Hat, which is the present centre of the ranching district.

The animal members of the party comprise 20 of the worst outlaws that can be gathered together. The majority of them have never been ridden before, so Edmontonians can expect some real "doins" in the bucking time.

The contest will not be confined to the members of the Medicine Hat party. Local talent is solicited and prizes aggregating $100 will be hung up for the exhibition of skill and daring.

The riders performed at Calgary last week and the papers of that city say it was the most exciting exhibition ever witnessed there. Rooster, Grey Ghost, Prairie Lion and Scorch, as some of the horses are named, fully lived up to their reputation for pure undiluted devilishness.

FIRST GAME OF THE SEASON

New York, Sept. 23.—The first contest of the season on eastern grasslands takes place today at Carlisle, Pa., where the Indians start their schedule with a game with the Lebanon Valley College team. On Saturday afternoon Pennsylvania, Cornell and Syracuse among the big eastern colleges, will begin the season.

THREE-I FLAG TO SPRINGFIELD

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 23.—The Three-I League pennant race closed yesterday with Springfield winner of the trophy. Springfield started the season with ten straight victories, and was never displaced from the top, though Rock Island in the last few weeks reduced the lead considerable. The attendance minimum was increased from 30,000 to 35,000 this year, but there will be few, if any, changes in the circuit next year.

REGRET DEATH OF H. ANDERSON

He Was Very Prominent in Winnipeg Football and Rowing Circles

From the Free Press.

The athletic world of Winnipeg, and oarsmen in particular, heard with deep regret yesterday of the untimely death of Harold Anderson, his sad demise having taken place at Edmonton as the result of typhoid fever.

For seven years Hans, as he was familiarly known, was a member of the Winnipeg Rowing Club, and in this sport he won not only many laurels for the club, but by his kind and genial disposition a host of friends.

Five years ago he was a member of Carper's celebrated crew (H. Deacon, Chas. Dr. Morterstick, B. L. Heaton, H. Anderson) that won the four-oared race at the Canadian Henley, and then going to St. Kitts the following summer they went one better again, capturing the event and going on to Washington, where they took the championship for their club and Winnipeg.

Moving to St. Paul three years ago the late Mr. Anderson was selected to represent the Minnesota club at the Winnipeg regatta, and he had the satisfaction of defeating his former clubmates, winning the junior singles and doubles, being coupled in the latter with French. He was also captain of the St. Paul Rowing Club hockey team.

Returning to Winnipeg again deceased took an increased interest in the club, and was made a member of the executive. He rowed in the eight that year, while last summer he again pulled this reliable and steady oar at the St. Paul regatta.

Mr. Anderson was equally well known in football circles, the experience gained at Upper Canada college, where he was a member of the first team in 1904, standing him in good stead, for he led St. John's last year when the Saints won the championship.

In fact Mr. Anderson was fond of every sport, having won a name for himself with the gloves at school and having played hockey in the Mercantile league for Morrick-Anderson & Co. of which firm his father was head. The deceased was 25 years of age and went to Edmonton about last December.

The saddest part of his unexpected death is the fact that the deceased was engaged to have been married to a Winnipeg lady, and that the event was to have taken place before Christmas.

Ned Martin, who was considered one of the fastest outside wingers Upper Canada College or McGill ever turned out, is now in Calgary and threatens to turn out with the Tigers.

The Season's Novelties

in Fine Millinery

An unwritten law in correct styles for this Fall is that small hats have high crowns while the large hats have small; the backward slant to high crowns in turbans and small hats, and the tendency to place trimming so as to glide from the face at a sharp angle, are also marked features of this Fall Millinery. Every brim invariably droops at some one point. This is particularly noticeable in some of the larger hats with the poke effect, which shows a bowtellingly saucy bend in the front wide brim. Some of the late arrivals are worthy of individual description. This, of course, is impossible for want of space, but they await your inspection.

CHLOROFORM USED ON LADY TRAVELLER

C. P. R. Brakeman Committed for Trial at Regina on a Serious Charge

Regina, Sept. 22.—Charged with attempting to chloroform a lady passenger on the Canadian Pacific railway eastbound train No. 2 on August 8 last, William Patrick Lynn, a Canadian Pacific railway brakeman, was today committed to stand his trial by Magistrate Heffernan at the Royal Northwest Mounted Police Barracks. The victim of the alleged offence, Mrs. Blanchflower, was travelling with her husband, Assistant Paymaster Blanchflower, of the British army from Vancouver to Montreal, and according to the prosecution was occupying a berth by herself when the attempt was made somewhere between Medicine Hat and Swift Current. Giving evidence today Mrs. Blanchflower stated that she awoke with a choking sensation just in time to see an arm withdrawn from the curtains, caught sight of a trainman's lantern and a uniform such as trainmen on the Canadian Pacific wear. The smell of chloroform was around her, and arousing her husband in the berth opposite she informed him of what had happened.

Calling his friend, the husband handed him the pillow for examination. The opinion passed was that a portion of the pillow had been saturated with chloroform. A complaint was made to the conductor, and as a result of steps taken by the Canadian Pacific railway official, Lynn was today charged with having unlawfully, and with evil intent tried to use chloroform or an otherwise stupefying or operating drug on Mrs. Blanchflower. In all eight witnesses have testified on this case.

CAN'T SEE ENOUGH OF THIS CANADA

Scottish Clergyman, Who Is to Write a Book on Canada, Visitor in the City

Rev. Wm. Dunlop, a clergyman of Fifehire, Scotland, is visiting Mr. Cook, inspector of Weights and Measures in Edmonton and called at the Board of Trade this morning.

"I am delighted with your country indeed, more so than any other old countryman whose opinion I have heard."

"The only complaint I have to make," said Mr. Fisher, "is that you haven't seen enough of our country." "The only complaint I have is that your country is so big, one can't see much of it," returned Mr. Dunlop. "I spent six weeks in Ontario alone. I've been to the Coast and on my journey east will make stops at Saskatoon and other Western points. It certainly surpasses all my expectations." Mr. Dunlop is collecting data on social and agricultural conditions and will embody his experiences in a book on Canada when he returns.

ters of the west will bring about a reduction?"

"I do not think there will be any radical reduction of the tariff," he replied. "Of course there are a lot of conflicting opinions about the question such as were encountered by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The agricultural community, as is natural, are free trade agitators, while the manufacturing class are for protection. But the interests of both are the interests of Canada, and in time the west itself will be a great manufacturing community and would benefit very much by a tariff."

His Honor, however, anticipates that as far as a change in commercial relations with the United States is concerned, that the first move will come from the republic.

"President Taft is trying to establish reciprocity between the two countries, and I think his opinion is representative of the whole American people."

Lieutenant-Governor Gibson stated that the change in Edmonton since he was here last was remarkable, but he said that eighteen years is bound to make a difference.

"When I was here last this place was nothing but a Hudson Bay outpost. Now it has assumed the dignity of an up to date city, and for the future there appears to be prospects of the best kind."

The visiting governor will be a guest at the hospital ball tonight and in the morning will leave for the south.

H. HEIR-DAVIES DIED SUDDENLY

Passed Away at His Home Last Evening After A Few Days' Illness

After an illness of only six days, Harold Heir-Davies died last night from acute ascending paralysis. He leaves behind him in their home at 68 Rowland street, a wife and one small child.

Mr. Davies, who is only 34 years of age, was a member of the Canadian force that took part in the Boer War. Up till the time of his death he was an accountant with Pheasay and Watson, contractors.

The stroke of paralysis came suddenly and Dr. Sloane was called in. The patient did not seem to improve so that on Wednesday night Dr. Biggar was also called and the two doctors held a consultation. Little could be done and last night he passed quietly away.

"The funeral, which will be held tomorrow afternoon, will take place from the house of Mr. Pheasay at 507 Ninth street to the Edmonton cemetery."

MANY LONDONERS WILL VISIT CANADA

This Will Be Result of Queen's Own Visit. Declares London Alderman

(Canadian Associated Press.) Aldershot, Sept. 23.—Sir Henry Pellatt has written to thank the court of the London common council for the luncheon and reception tendered the Queen's Own Rifles at Guildhall, "which," he says, "formed the crown of one of the most remarkable experiences any Canadian regiment ever received."

J. R. Jakeman, who moved the resolution in the common council to entertain the regiment at Guild Hall, says one of the results of the impressions of Canada, derived by the 180 members of the corporation who acted as hosts on that occasion, will be the visit of many members of this representative body of London's influence to the Dominion with the object of seeing the country for themselves.

The Western Canada Investment Company has declared a dividend of three per cent. for the half-year.

"The Highlands"

"The Land You Hear So Much About"

aptly describes the property we are shortly placing on the market called "The Highlands." Everybody is interested in the sub-division because it is so delightfully situated—the scenery is one of the finest to be obtained in this City—the land rises high above the river thus affording a magnificent view of the pretty bends that abound—the lack of City noises that worry those living in and around the busy centres—the building restriction of $2500 demands a residence of fine structure being built upon its lots and thus ensuring the owners of property a certain high class social set.

As an investment "The Highlands" offers inducements hitherto unheard of in Edmonton and we can safely guarantee anyone a good increase over their deposit within a short time. Speculators will find in "The Highlands" a good turnover in a comparatively short time on account of the improvements to be entered upon at once in every way possible to make this sub-division one of the most select and desirable in and around the district. Anyone wishing further information can have all their enquiries answered upon application at the office where any member of the staff will be glad to meet you.

Should you desire to see the property we will be delighted to run you out in the auto in a few minutes from leaving the City.

It was decided to forward the honor roll to headquarters.

The following provisional officers were elected to carry on the work of organization. President, Major W. A. Griesbach; captain, Mr. Bowker; first lieutenant, Mr. Palmer; second lieutenant, Mr. Livesey; secretary, Mr. Pope; treasurer, Mr. Chubb. A CASE OF PARTNERSHIP

The appeal of D. McK. Murray vs. W. E. McLeod, was heard before the supreme court en banc this morning. P. W. Varie acting for the appellant, and Short, Ross & Schwell for the respondent. The case was an appeal from Judge Mitchell's judgment in favor of the defendant.

The appellant, it appears, was in partnership with three others in Calgary in business. In May the partnership was dissolved. Before that time some lands were sold, in the proceeds of which the appellant claims a one-fourth share. Murray had nothing to do with the transaction, and the other three partners entered into a bond, without the fourth partner, contrary to the agreement, in transacting the business. The case will be continued on Monday at 10 a.m.

Melba's appearance at Massey Hall tonight, broke all records for Toronto, both as regards numbers and box office receipts, notwithstanding the fact that the house was entirely sold out two days before the concert. There were fully one thousand people waiting outside the hall at six o'clock. It is estimated two thousand people were turned away. Many who had come from a distance offered outside the hall as high as ten dollars a seat to the ticket holders.

The treasurer of Massey Hall reports the receipts as the greatest in the history of the Hall, even beating the Paris record.

All the Celestials are represented by J. E. Wallbridge, while Crown Attorney Cogswell is conducting the case for the crown.

The evidence of Chief Lancy and Sergeant McCallum was taken, both testifying to what they saw during the raid and identifying the various gambling paraphernalia found on the premises.

From Old England to New Canada

An Intimate Account of an Old Countryman's Trip to the Dominion—
What He Saw, What He Did, and His Companions

(BY AN ENGLISHMAN IN EDMONTON.)

"Time flies—it seems to me but yesterday that I was within the great metropolis, London, England. I often think what made me come to Canada. Well, it was like this: I held the last position of "quill driver" in a large business office where promotion is very slow and not at all sure, and just when I thought I was going to get a step higher up the ladder, it was to find that I was too young to hold the position, and an older man was placed over me. This was to much, coming as it did, after months of hard work, and I decided I would try my luck further afield. With this idea in my head, I started to make inquiries, and many times did I hear that Edmonton, Alta., was the "Gateway of the Last Great West." I called on two old friends, and the topic soon turned to Canada, and its openings—they had had their eyes on Canada for some time past. Well, in the end, the three of us decided to take our chance in the "Great West." Since we had arrived at this decision we were not long in making up our minds when and how to go. Within a month of our meeting to which I have referred we were under way. Then the journey.

To start with we had to get our "fit out" as we were advised that wearing apparel was pretty expensive in that part of the globe. When we had made what we thought the necessary purchases, we visited the London office of the C. P. R. and were very well received at the hands of that company's agent, and provided with a few good hints, which were very acceptable to a Londoner born and bred, and who had not travelled further than the English coast with perhaps a short week end trip to "gay Paris."

In due course our passages were booked. Then came the time that all my fellow-countrymen will agree with me that it is with a feeling of great relief when this is all over. It is not altogether pleasant to anyone continued. However, we got all our things together and left London at 8.00 in the morning, arriving at Liverpool at 2 p.m.

What a journey! Nothing much happened after about twenty of our united relations and friends met to give us "Bon Voyage." At Liverpool we were escorted to the shipping office by the agent of the C. P. R. who also informed us that it would be to our advantage to have the greatest part of our money changed into dollars and cents before leaving the old country. This we did and looked for the first time on the "Almighty Dollar" bill of which we had heard so much and seen so little.

This done we made our way to the boat, first of all purchasing a few more things that we decided we should require. Personally, I had to purchase a rug, having left mine at home in the excitement of leaving that morning. When we got to the docks we saw the fine vessel that was to carry us to our new home, and some very good talent on board so it was decided that there should be a grand concert held in the saloon. I was chosen to organize the thing and I must say that every help was given me both by my fellow passengers and the ship's officers. H.P. programmes were printed on board and sold at six pence each. We had a crowded house with the result that it was found necessary to repeat the programme in the second saloon. The day after, at 10.30 a.m., the ship's doctor occupied the chair, I handed the steward £6 6s 6d, and received his receipt for this amount, which was handed over to help swell the funds of that excellent institution "The Seaman's Orphanage."

We arrived at Halifax at 9.30 a.m. Then our troubles began. When we had passed through the immigration authorities we had the customs to face and many were the faint hearted incidents which we witnessed. Luckily we got through without any trouble. The train did not leave till 5 p.m. so we had time to have a look around. How "green" we must have looked. Everything was new to us and we took in every little incident. One which comes to my mind very easily, was that of a baker's cart being driven across the rails in the station depot. It looked as if the thing were bound to turn over, but, no, the man had evidently taken that short cut many times before. We had to look around the docks and started trying to compare them with the docks on the Thames.

Repeated inquiries at the station elicited the fact that our train would leave at 5 p.m. It really left at 7.30. We managed to board the train and so got in touch with our new quarters in which we were to travel through over 2,000 miles of country.

There was a great crowd of us from the boat who were going west and after interviewing the train master and having prepared a list of forty-five we got a carriage to ourselves.

Just fancy one of those long carriages filled with folk, all from the old country, and all from the same boat. We had a great time. We three had come pretty well prepared for this long train journey. I ought to mention that we were travelling by colonist tickets, so we had to look after ourselves as regards meals. We were off at last, bound for different spots all over the Dominion of Canada. We were impressed with everything we saw and heard. To travel, and in such a country as this Canada, means to broaden one's mind

Strange things happen on board ship. We were four days out of Liverpool when I met a man and his wife who came from the same town as I did. Needless to say we found plenty to talk about.

Time passed pretty quickly, although the trip was a slow one—it took us nine days from port to port.

The weather was very good to us. About a dozen young fellows used to meet amidships and hold an informal concert at all hours of the day, and night as well, until the deck steward, nicely, but firmly requested us to adjourn to our cabins. We had some very good talent on board so it was decided that there should be a grand concert held in the saloon. I was chosen to organize the thing and I must say that every help was given me both by my fellow passengers and the ship's officers. H.P. programmes were printed on board and sold at six pence each. We were impressed with everything we saw and heard. To travel, and in such a country as this Canada, means to broaden one's mind and it lets one know that England is not the only place on the map.

It was really great fun getting meals and clearing away afterwards. If anyone had told me that I was going to experience this "batching" business on board train, I think I should have laughed. But here we were in grim earnest, and I must confess I enjoyed it. Although we had five whole days on the train, the time soon passed and what with the lovely scenery, talking over old times and of the future, we found something to occupy our minds. It was when we got to Calgary that it began to tire on us. We had just missed the 8.30 a.m. (20.30 a.m., how strange it seemed to us) and had to wait till 2.30. We had plenty of time to have a look round Calgary, having a square meal, send a few picture postcards home and then back to the train once more. We reached Strathcona at 10.30 and then to our great disappointment we found we were not at the end of our journey. Our companions on the boat had gradually left us, and by the time we reached Calgary there were ten, and six of those came to Edmonton, the remainder going west of the Rockies. Two of our party stayed in Strathcona the night and the other four came on to Edmonton by the street car (not transit) and soon got fixed up for the night. Can anyone imagine (who has not experienced it) what it means to be in your clothes for five whole days and nights without a change or a bath. Can it be wondered that we all made a rush for the bathroom and after being refreshed in this way we went to bed. How sweet it was to get between the sheets once again in a nice large airy room. It was indeed a blessing.

Next morning we began on that great task of looking for work. The two fellows who stayed the night in Strathcona were looking for home-steads, but none of that for us. One fellow was met by his brother who looked after him all right.

My two friends soon signed on with a survey party and went out west. I have heard from the moonshiners and they like their new sphere of life and are looking forward to returning to town for the winter. I wonder what it will be like. Quite a new experience for us to stand (and feel) that the thermometer is below zero; still, we are going to be right with it.

Certainly a Canadian summer is something to be proud of. Many Alberta is the place for me. I do not doubt that many will read this the time they left the old country and I trust the memory so recalled will be as pleasant as mine.

public, although the fact is not to be lost sight of that no greater service could be done to the public than the extinction, final as it would be, of war.

Amid all the pressing needs of their absolute power, I see none more urgent for workmen than this call for peace, and that is why I call their minds away from local to national, from national, rather, to international business. As well as being a need of theirs, it is a duty cast upon them, since war is a menace to mankind at large, and as I say, only be stopped by workmen. The sooner the organized laborer, therefore, realizes his overwhelming power and, consequently, his high responsibility, the better it will be for humanity.

"I am here to help him realize them, for I am not at all afraid of him. Most men are who do not see that the ultimate staple whereby every man shall be tried is not what he has, but what he is. If the noble declaration of the American Constitution, falsified every day and at every turn by the American people, be not true; if men are not, indeed, free and equal, the basis of all of them most miserable. For I build upon that, and base my argument upon it. Now, of all men in this complicated world entitled to be free and equal to their brothers, I know, and can conceive of none who have better earned their charter than they who do all its work, and have in their narrow, the very narrow, of its virtue."

World-Wide Cessation of War.

The organized laborer, who handled himself with his fellows originally for self-defence, is now in possession of an army and a weapon which may become aggressive. It is time. Yet if I don't mistake, his operations of offense will not be moved against the liberty of other men, but rather in assertion of his own. The collapse of the North-Eastern strike under the strong action of the Amalgamated Society is proof enough that workmen in union know how to put up the sword as well as how to draw it.

"But the organized laborer has indeed two arms in his hands: the first is the franchise, the second is the strike. The first is heavy to move, but the second is terribly swift. If he is wise he will complete his mobilization of both. For the first, he will see to it that his choice for Parliament is a delegate vowed to the abolition of expenditure upon armaments; with the second, that no such monstrous hindrances to liberty of development as war be allowed to threaten the world from henceforward. This weapon of deadly efficiency is his, and his only. As he only does the work of the world, so when he ceases to do it the work of the world will not be done. As it is in Newcastle, so it will be in Europe—if needs must. He only can paralyze society; and if society plays fast and loose with his liberty, with the blood of his sons and the heartstrings of their mother, he is not only justified, he is morally bound to paralyze it.

"A general strike, the threat of it, I declare, make European war impossible; but certain provisions are necessary to be observed. It must be international in range, and behind the threat there must stand the certainty of its execution. Neither of these is difficult of fulfillment. A joint committee of trade unions gives the first unanimous vote of a congress ensures the second. The newspapers will howl, the bureaucrats gush, their teeth; but the Stock Exchange and money lenders will draw back—and war is over. Here is, I allege, the bounden duty and privilege of trade unionism in the near future.

"To bid wars to cease! If this is not a glorious labor for our new born Heracles, then Christ lied on the Mount."

NAMAYO AVENUE

A Street That Has a Great Future Before It—Is Busy Now and Getting Bustier Everyday

Everywhere the name "Jasper Avenue" seems to be on the lips of the inhabitants of Edmonton and very little mention of Namayo Avenue, which is steadily becoming the rival of the far-famed Jasper.

There can be no doubt in the minds of the Edmonton people that Namayo Avenue is doing more and more in the line of business every day, and soon the time will come when the two streets will be talked of in the one breath and be regarded as equals. Namayo Avenue is central to the city, and has all or even more advantages than Jasper has. In the first place it has a branch of the street railway running along it, providing it with a ten minute service which connects with all parts of the city. Secondly it crosses the tracks of the C.N.R. and the G.T.P. where sidings and shipping warehouses could be erected, bringing the wholesaler close to the retail merchant. Thirdly it is closer to the Exhibition grounds which will no doubt benefit it in time, when the exhibition grows to the proportions of the Toronto show or any of the other large fairs. Again there are numerous vacant lots yet waiting to have large business blocks erected upon them, like some that are already erected and others that are under construction.

Some will say that Jasper Avenue is the only place in the city where there are large handsome buildings, but they forget the blocks on Namayo, which although they are not the size of the Jasper buildings show great credit to the foresight and belief of the inhabitants in their street. Amongst the buildings which might be mentioned are the Engler block, the Schattner block, and the Cameron block, which is now under construction.

There is even now a large amount of business done on the Avenue. First and foremost are the mills of A. D. Frazer and the Cushing company. The Avenue is in itself a little town of its own. In it are to be found stores of every description from the hardware to the music store, the furniture to the grocery store, all are represented and all do a bustling business suffering nothing from that which is done on Jasper Avenue.

The lots on the street are every day becoming more and more valuable, and today they are not so very far behind the Jasper Avenue prices, which prices are supposed to be the gauge of the value of the city.

In the town. The lots on the street are every day becoming more and more valuable, and today they are not so very far behind the Jasper Avenue prices, which prices are supposed to be the gauge of the value of the city.

One more point that must not be overlooked is the street railway extension to see north end of the Avenue which is now under construction, and gives the residents of the northern end the benefit of the service.

Most people seem to have the idea that Namayo Avenue is a long way from the central part of the city, but when one walks west from the Avenue along Athabasca, one soon reaches First street, in fact a good deal sooner than one expected, and First street is allowed by all to run through the heart of the city.

TWILIGHT ON THE PEAKS.
Now dark and chill the shadows creep
Across the sunset's bars,
Night waves her sevenfold veil of blue.

Within the House of Stars,
A peace falls from the twilight sky,
No word or song could tell
How soft the murmur of the stream,
How sweet the vesper bell!

GIVE THE KIDDIES MORE AIR! AIR! AIR!

Paris—Air! Air! Air! Less study, less forcing children ahead in their classes regardless of consequences, and more air in their lungs!

Such is the cry sent up by Dr. Albert Mathieu, consulting physician at the Paris hospitals, stomach specialist, and president of the International Congress of Scholastic Hygiene.

"In all civilized countries," he said, "there is too much sedentary scholastic life. There are too many surcharged hours where intellectual work has left an insufficient time for physical recreation. And exercise in the free air is of prime importance to the young. Outdoor games are not only indispensable to their normal growth, but to their intellectual and moral development as well. The tendency is to add to the list of studies and examinations. Families, dispirited or ignorant of the first laws of hygiene, place too much stress upon the scholastic success of their offspring. They too often cram them through an advanced schooling, then shove them head first into a career—one of the so-called intellectual careers, usually—for which they are not fitted.

"A return to a saner basis of educating the young must be secured. Goethe's death cry was: 'Give me light! Yet more light!' The cry of all nations might well be, in this matter of bettering the hygiene of schools: 'Give us more air! Yet more air! What we must fight for is air in the schools, air in the lungs, air in the curriculum.'

HE SAVED THE TRAIN.

A brakeman who had not been long employed was going up a very steep grade on his first run. With unusual difficulty, the engineer succeeded in reaching the top. At the station, looking out of his cab, the engineer saw the new brakeman and said with a sigh of relief: "I tell you what, my lad, you've a job to get up here, didn't we?"

"We certainly did," said the brakeman, "and if I hadn't have put on the brakes, we'd have slipped back!"—Lippincott's.

A NOVEL METHOD OF STOPPING WAR

Maurice Hewlett Suggests That If Germany and England Should Declare War
All Workmen Should Strike, and War Would be Impossible

A few weeks ago an otherwise unimportant conference of the "Peace Party" in London was "lit up" and made noticeable by a short speech delivered by Maurice Hewlett, the noted author, who declared that there was a means by which a war between Great Britain and Germany could be rendered impossible—and he feared there was no other way but the one he had in mind. He said that war would be rendered impossible if, on its near approach, the workmen of both countries declared a general strike and refused to countenance a struggle that would be conducted at their expense and in which their sons would march to death. The speech made a sensation, although it was not the first time that Maurice Hewlett has advanced these views.

On this occasion he has spoken at the psychological moment. Since then he has written in the London Chronicle his argument in an orderly way, and his views were worth considering. "Schemes for restriction of armaments," he says, "such as that propounded lately by the German newspaper press, creditable enough in its intent, do small honor to the intelligence of their movers. Such things are pastimes for peace congresses; the riding our earth of warmongers needs sterner measures. The time is certainly coming when these will be taken, when the government will discover the inevitable stupidity of their governors, and put the hand down. You intend for war? They will ask these plain, indisputable, unremarkable persons. 'You stir up and stir up? You pile armaments? You deliver ultimatums, aim for London or Berlin? Enough of it. War shall not be!'

"I never such a stroke can be dealt that the pestilence of war be abated in Europe suddenly and finally, it will be dealt by the working class. No other can do it: not the aristocracy, for by their caste they are not; not the bureaucracy, for under their rulers they will not; nor kings, for they are negligible in these days; not the Church, for that serves Time, and has no right upon the declaration of war. Remembering the chaos produced quite recently in the North by the strike at Newcastle, it is not hard to realize that that would be sufficient to prevent mobilization. And sufficiency is all that is wanted; let that be done which has to be done with the least possible inconvenience to the international in origin and in aim, will be of a strike in one or more directions coincident with a declaration of war; and the evidence will be in the resolution of an international trade union congress, convened ad hoc, and carried without a dissentient voice. Should such a congress be summoned, such a resolution be carried, these would probably be no war between European powers, and if none then, there would never be one again.

A Strike Against War.

"I never think that more would be needed, but should war preparations go on in the teeth of such a resolution, and the clamor and irritation needed to screw the two nations up to declaration pitch be continued by the newspapers, stronger steps might be necessary, and would no doubt be taken. The congress might then resolve that the railwaymen in the two countries should stop work automatically upon the declaration of war. Remembering the chaos produced quite recently in the North by the strike at Newcastle, it is not hard to realize that that would be sufficient to prevent mobilization. And sufficiency is all that is wanted; let that be done which has to be done with the least possible inconvenience to the

Amid all the pressing needs of their absolute power, I see none more urgent for workmen than this call for peace, and that is why I call their minds away from local to national, from national, rather, to international business. As well as being a need of theirs, it is a duty cast upon them, since war is a menace to mankind at large, and as I say, only be stopped by workmen.
